Case No 05-80212

20 vs.

Adversary No. 06-9036

21 DAVID R. MICHAL, ET. AL.

22 Defendants.

23
24 COMES NOW RESTORATION GROUP, INC., dba PUROFIRST DISASTER & 25 RECONSTRUCTION and ROBERT CRONIC and responds to the Court's Order to Show Cause as 26 follows:27 1. This law firm represents RESTORATION GROUP, INC., dba PUROFIRST 28 DISASTER & RECONSTRUCTION and ROBERT CRONIC in a lawsuit it filed against Patricia

1       McColm's father, Geroge McColm, in the Superior Court of California, Shasta County case number 2 153509. This case was filed on July 9, 2004 and continues to this day, in large part due to Ms.
3 McColm's involvement. Mr. McColm's house suffered fire damage, which Restoration Group, Inc.
4 cleaned; Mr. McColm was reimbursed for the work by his insurance company, but failed to pay 5 Restoration Group. McColm has attempted to use Restoration Group's lawsuit against her father to 6 litigate her own issues relating to her personal property, which she alleges was improperly taken by 7 plaintiff. Plaintiff has filed a Motion for Leave Intervene, a Renewal Amended Motion for Leave 8 Intervene and an Amended-Cross Complaint in her name to obtain this property, all of which were 9 rejected by this Court.

10       2. Following Mr. McColm's death on May 4, 2007, there was a lengthy delay in 11 establishing his estate. Finally, Ms. McColm was named the executor and personal representative 12 of the estate of George McColm, and Restoration Group obtained leave of the Court to substitute in 13 as defendant in this matter.

14       3. On December 15, 1995, the San Francisco Superior Court declared Ms. McColm to 15 be a vexatious litigant, and ordered her to seek leave of Court prior to bringing a civil lawsuit. See 16 Order of Court, attached hereto as Exhibit "A." Ms. McColm has a long history of inappropriate 17 behavior, which this office has experienced first hand. See Declaration of Stacey Woodard, 18 Attached as Exhibit "B."

19       4. Defendant David R. Michal is Mr. Cronic's former partner at Restoration Group. Mr.
20 Michal has no involvement with the litigation in Shasta County California and does not have 21 possession of any of the property removed from Mr. McColm's residence by Restoration Group.

22       5. Mr. Cronic was served with subpoenas for deposition and production of documents.
23 Mr. Cronic provided the subpoenas to this office for review. After careful consideration, it was 24 determined that it was essential that this office represent Mr. Cronic in this deposition. Not only did 25 it appear that Ms. McColm was attempting to use her case against Mr. Michal as a means to obtain 26 discovery in the Shasta County case, but also, Ms. McColm has a habit of being very abusive 27 especially during depositions, which I have experienced first hand.

28       6. Due to my unavailability, I requested that my secretary, Stacey Woodard, contact Ms.
29 McColm to reschedule the deposition until a later date. See declaration of Stacey Woodard, 30 Attached as Exhibit "B." I was sitting in my office as Ms. Woodard spoke with Ms. McColm, and 31 could hear Ms. McColm screaming at her through the telephone.

7. On October 14, 2009, I sent a letter to Ms. McColm confirming her conversation with my secretary regarding rescheduling the deposition, and provided alternative dates, which were within a reasonable time frame. See Letter Attached hereto as Exhibit "C." Ms. McColm requested that we fax this letter to her attorney, David Griffith, which we did.

8. Ms. McColm's reply to my October 14, 2009 letter is attached hereto as Exhibit "D."

9. I have not received any communication from Ms. McColm regarding rescheduling the depositions. Mr. Cronic has never refused to submit to this deposition or document production. Mr. Cronic merely requested an extension so that he could be represented by counsel.

10. It is my understanding that trial in this case took place on December 3, 2009 in Georgia. Mr. Michal's attorney, Robert Schwartz, contacted me following the trial and informed me that Ms. McColm failed to appear at the trial. Ms. Schwartz further stated that the Judge indicated his intent to dismiss the case and issue sanctions against Ms. McColm if she does not voluntarily dismiss the case within a specified period of time.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of California that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed this 31 day of December, 2009 at Redding, California.

Respectfully submitted,

KENNY, SNOWDEN & NORINE

18 This matter came before this Court on November 29, 1995, the 19 Honorable David A. Garcia, presiding. Having considered all the 20 papers submitted by the moving and opposing parties and the 21 parties' oral arguments,<sup>1</sup> IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the 22 Defendant's motion to declare the Plaintiff Patricia A. McColm a 23 vexatious litigant is GRANTED.

25
26
27 <sup>1</sup> In deciding this motion, this Court only considered the 28 moving and opposing parties' papers and not the papers filed by other interested parties.

1 This Court finds that Patricia McColm falls within the 2 meaning of Code of Civil Procedure sections 391(b)(1) and (3).
3 Defendant's motion to require plaintiff to furnish security 4 pursuant to section 391.1 is GRANTED in the amount of $25,000;
5 and Defendant's motion for a pre-filing order pursuant to section 6 391.7 is GRANTED.

7 This Court's decision is based on the following Statement of 8 Decision.

STATEMENT OF DECISION

10 | FACTS

11 The Defendant David M. Jordan, owns California Rug Cleaners, 12 which alters, repairs, and cleans expensive rugs. California Rug 13 Cleaners also offers free pickup and delivery service in 14 conjunction with these services. (Declaration of David M. Jordan 15 filed September 22, 1995).

16 The Defendant agreed to clean several rugs belonging to the 17 plaintiff, Patricia McColm. On December 18, 1993, Mr. Jordan 18 returned Ms. McColm's rugs to her home. After examining the 19 rugs, Ms. McColm expressed dissatisfaction with the results. Mr.
20 Jordan offered to re-clean one of the rugs for free. However, 21 Ms. McColm absolutely refused to pay for the cleaning service.
22 (Declaration of Patricia A. McColm filed September 20, 1995).

23 In her declaration, Ms. McColm alleges that Mr. Jordan 24 became very hostile and repeatedly threatened her after she

26        All statutory references hereinafter are to the Cal. Code 27 of Civ. Proc. unless otherwise stated.

1 refused to pay for his services. When she refused to let Mr.
2 Jordan leave with her rug, he yanked the rug out from under her, 3 which, in turn, caused her to fall and break her toe. (Decl. of 4 Patricia A. McColm). In his declaration to this Court, Mr.
5 Jordan denies striking plaintiff and pulling the rug out from 6 under Ms. McColm. Mr. Jordan admits that he did in fact take the 7 rug, but that he did so only after Ms. McColm refused to pay for 8 the cleaning service. Mr. Jordan states that he left Ms.
9 McColm's house when she became hysterical and called 911. (Decl.
10 of David Jordan).

11 Ms. McColm subsequently filed a police report and caused an 12 arrest warrant for Mr. Jordan to be issued by the District 13 Attorney's office. The police arrested Mr. Jordan, and he was 14 jailed for several hours. After a brief investigation, the 15 District Attorney's office dismissed the charges against Mr.
16 Jordan. (Declaration of Andrew C. Bannon in support of 17 defendant's motion to have plaintiff declared a vexatious 18 litigant filed November 22, 1995).

19 On December 13, 1994, Ms. McColm filed this lawsuit alleging 20 assault and battery, trespass, fraud, negligence, and property 21 damage. The plaintiff did not serve the Summons and Complaint on 22 the defendant until July 6, 1995.

23 On July 28, 1995, Defendant Jordan filed a motion to declare 24 Ms. McColm a vexatious litigant, to require Ms. McColm to furnish 25 security in the amount of $75,000, and to obtain a prefilings 26 order.

1       In his moving papers, Mr. Jordan asserted that Ms. McColm is 2 a vexatious litigant because she has commenced at least five 3 litigations in propria persona during the past seven years that 4 have been determined adversely against her or which have been 5 unjustifiably permitted to remain pending at least two years 6 without trial or hearing. (Section 391(b)(1)). Alternatively, 7 Mr. Jordan contended that Ms. McColm qualifies as a vexatious 8 litigant because in prior litigation she has filed unmeritorious 9 motions, pleadings, or other papers, and conducted unnecessary 10 discovery, or engaged in other tactics that were frivolous or 11 solely intended to cause unnecessary delay. (Section 391(b)(3)).
12 This Court finds that there is sufficient evidence to support
13 Jordan's contentions. Therefore, this Court declares Ms. McColm 14 a "vexatious litigant" within the meaning of section 391(b)(1) 15 and (3).

17 COURTROOM CAMERA

18       As a preliminary matter, Ms. McColm objected to the presence 19 of a television camera in the court and requested its removal.
20 Ms. McColm complained that she failed to receive adequate notice 21 of the camera's presence. However, Ms. McColm failed to state 22 any other reasons for its removal. Ms. McColm, asserted, inter 23 alia, that "the Rules of Court prohibit cameras in the courtroom 24 as a general rule." (Transcript of Hearing 4:8-4:12). In 25 addition, Ms. McColm requested that the Court provide a reason 26 why the camera should be allowed in the courtroom. Id. The Court

27

28

1 responded that the television company made an appropriate request
2 for film coverage on a Judicial Council approved form.

3 However, this Court would like to take this opportunity to 4 more fully respond to Ms. McColm's objection. Rules of Court 980 5 governs the presence of cameras in the courtroom.<sup>3</sup> Contrary to 6 Ms. McColm's assertion, the current version of Rule 980<sup>4</sup>, clearly 7 indicates that a court should allow for cameras in the courtroom 8 upon proper request unless it finds the rights of the parties, 9 the dignity of the court, or the orderly conduct of the court 10 proceedings would be jeopardized by the presence of cameras<sup>5</sup>.

11 Rule 980 leaves courts broad discretion to "refuse, limit or 12 terminate film or electronic media coverage in the interests of 13 justice." (KFMB-TV Channel 8 v. Municipal Court (1990) 221 Cal.
14 App.3d 1362, 1367). In addition, the rule indicates that it is 15 not to be construed to "limit or restrict the rights of the media

16
17 <sup>3</sup> Rule 980 provides that "[f]ilm or electronic media 18 coverage is permitted only on written order of the court. The 19 court may refuse or limit or terminate film or electronic media coverage in the interest of justice to protect the rights of the 20 parties and the dignity of the court, or to assure the orderly conduct of the proceedings. This rule does not otherwise limit 21 or restrict the right of the media to cover and report court proceedings" (Rules of Court 980).

22 <sup>4</sup> Rule 980 became effective on July 1984.

23 <sup>5</sup> In KFMB-TV Channel 8 v. Municipal Court, (1990) 221 Cal.
24 App.3d 1362, 1367), the Court of Appeal traced the history of 25 Rule 980. The court noted that rule 980 was initially adopted to 26 prohibit media coverage of courtroom proceedings with the 27 exception of certain narrow ceremonial proceedings. However, the current version of the rule "recognizes that media access should be granted except where to do so will interfere with the rights of the parties, diminish the dignity of the court, or impede the orderly conduct of the proceedings" (Id. at 1368-69).

1 to cover and report court proceedings." (Rules of Court 980).
2 Thus, the underlying premise of the rule is that cameras should 3 be permitted in the courtroom subject to the discretion of the 4 court.

5 Rule 980 furthermore requires that the request for media
6 coverage should be made within a reasonable time and the parties 7 be promptly notified. The purpose of this provision is to give 8 the court adequate notice and sufficient time for the court to 9 arrive at a reasoned decision on whether the request should be 10 granted, and if so, what restrictions, if any, should be imposed.

11 (FMB-TV Channel 8, 221 Cal. App.3d at 1369-1370).

12 In this case, there was no reason to believe that the rights 13 of Ms. McColm would be or were jeopardized by the presence of a 14 camera in the courtroom. Furthermore, there was no evidence 15 showing that the presence of the camera, would in any way, affect 16 the dignity of the Court or the orderly conduct of its 17 proceedings. Thus, this Court acted properly in allowing the 18 camera in the courtroom to videotape the proceeding.

19 20 NOTIFICATION OF PARTIES

21 Rule 980(b)(1) provides that the request for media coverage 22 should be made within a reasonable time and the parties be 23 promptly notified. The purpose of this provision is to give the 24 court adequate notice and sufficient time for the court to arrive 25 at a reasoned decision on whether the request should be granted 26 and if so, what restrictions, if any, should be imposed. (KFMB-TV

1 | Channel 8, 221 Cal. App.3d at 1369-1370). Notification would 2 | allow the parties to adequately advise the court whether the 3 | request should be granted.

4 | The Court received the media request the day before the 5 | hearing and notified Ms. McColm of its order at its first
6 | available opportunity preceding the commencement of the hearing.
7 | Ms. McColm communicated her objections to the Court before
8 | filming of the proceedings began. Her objections to the filming
9 | were considered in chambers before the hearing and were rejected.
10 | Ms. McColm reiterated her objection to filming at the beginning
11 | of the hearing. This Court noted and rejected her objections for 12 | the record. As discussed above, the Court did not find good
13 | cause to exclude the camera in the courtroom. Thus, the purpose
14 | of the notification provision was served since this Court
15 | adequately considered Ms. McColm's objections prior to and during 16 | the hearing, and made a reasoned decision to allow the presence
17 | of a camera in the courtroom.

19 | PLAINTIFF QUALIFIES AS A VEXATIOUS LITIGANT
20 | UNDER SECTION 391

22 | The term "vexatious litigant" as defined by section
23 | 391(b)(1) is a person who, "[i]n the immediately preceding
24 | seven-year period has commenced, prosecuted, or maintained in 25 | propria persona at least five litigations other than in a small 26 | claims court that have been finally determined adversely to the 27 | person; or unjustifiably permitted to remain pending at least two

1 years without having been brought to trial or hearing." (Section 2 391(b)(1)).

3 Section 391(b)(1) applies to Ms. McColm. In the past seven 4 years, Ms. McColm, has, maintained in propria persona at least 5 five civil actions in Superior and Municipal Courts of San 6 Francisco County and in the Northern District of California that 7 have been adversely determined against her or have been 8 unjustifiably permitted to remain pending for more than two years 9 without having it brought to trial:

10 1. McColm v. San Francisco Plastic Surgeons, Inc., civ.
11 no. 882809. Ms. McColm filed this case in Superior Court on 12 October 15, 1987. Ultimately, the court granted defendants' 13 motion for mandatory dismissal due to plaintiff's failure to 14 bring the case to trial within the required five-year statutory 15 period. The court dismissed the appeal on January 7, 1994.

16 2. McColm v. Sangiacomo, civ. no. 940930. Ms. McColm filed 17 this case in Superior Court on February 27, 1992. Ms. McColm
18 repeatedly refused to attend scheduled depositions. The court 19 dismissed this case with prejudice on October 6, 1992, due to 20 terminating sanctions. Ms. McColm filed an appeal on November 21 30, 1992. The Court of Appeal dismissed Ms. McColm's appeal on 22 February 1, 1995.

23 3. McColm v. City and County of San Francisco, Board of 24 Permit Appeals, civ. no. 968207. Ms. McColm filed this case in 25 Superior Court on March 21, 1995. The court considered this case 26 to be a writ of mandate pursuant to Section 1085. The court

1 denied Ms. McColm's petition on April 1, 1995. Thereafter, the 2 court denied plaintiff's motion to vacate and set aside judgment 3 for the defendant on August 29, 1995.

4 4. McColm v. University of San Francisco, civ. no. 945052.

5 Ms. McColm filed this case in Superior Court on August 7, 1992.
6 Ms. McColm transferred this case to Municipal Court on June 26, 7 1993. Ms. McColm then requested that it be transferred to Small 8 Claims Court on September 14, 1995. This lawsuit appears to be 9 subject to discretionary dismissal pursuant to section 583.420 10 et. seq.

11 5. McColm v. State Bar of California, civ. no. 853700.

12 Ms. McColm filed this case in Superior Court on February 26, 13 1986. The State Bar's motion for mandatory dismissal pursuant to 14 Section 583.310. et. seq. is scheduled to be heard on January 17, 15 1996.

16 6. McColm v. Bank of America, civ. no. 041404. Ms. McColm

17 filed this case in Municipal Court on April 26, 1990. Ms. McColm 18 served the Complaint upon the defendant on March 13, 1992. Ms.
19 McColm transferred the case to Small Claims Court despite the 20 defendant's objections on December 29, 1992. A Judgment was 21 eventually entered against the plaintiff on January 15, 1993.

22
23 * McColm v. Bank of America also satisfies the requirements 24 under Section 391(b) (3). Ms. McColm filed her complaint on April 25 26, 1990, in Municipal Court. The plaintiff served the complaint 26 on the defendant on March 13, 1992. Throughout the litigation, 27 Ms. McColm a pursued strategy of repetitive motions, ex parte applications, and requests for protective orders. Ms. McColm refused to appear at scheduled depositions on two occasions.
Moreover, the Court sanctioned Ms. McColm $250 when she failed to appear for a court ordered deposition.

2       7. McColm v. French, civ. no. 051444. The complaint was 3 filed in Municipal Court on November 19, 1990. Court files 4 indicate that no action has been taken since the filing of a 5 cross-complaint on December 27, 1990. This lawsuit appears to be 6 subject to mandatory dismissal pursuant to Section 583.310 et.
7 seq.

8       8. McColm v. Trustees of California State University, no.
9 C802756 MHP. Ms. McColm filed this case in the Northern District 10 of California on June 26, 1980. The court entered judgment for 11 the defendants on November 11, 1992. The court denied 12 plaintiff's motion for a new trial on March 27, 1992.

13

14 SECTION 391(b) (3)

15

16       The uncontested evidence further shows that Ms. McColm 17 falls within the definition of a vexatious litigant under section 18 391(b) (3). Specifically, Ms. McColm filed unmeritorious motions 19 in McColm v. Nelson, civ no. 853343, and engaged in tactics that 20 are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay in 21

22       This Court also notes that the following cases, filed by 23 plaintiff in propria persona in San Francisco County Superior 24 Court, are the subject of pending orders to show cause why the 25 actions should not be dismissed for plaintiff's failure to comply 26 with Local Rules 2.0, 2.3, and 2.4: McColm v. Dow Jones &
27 Company, Inc., civ. no. 960639, McColm v. Morrissey, civ. no.
962683, McColm v. King World Productions, et. al., civ. no.
963838, McColm v. Alvarez, civ. no. 963683, McColm v. Capitol
Cities/ABC, Inc., civ. no. 963876, McColm v. TransAmerica
Insurance Group, civ. no. 965600, and McColm v. Jordan, civ. no.
965774.

28

1 McColm v. Sangiacomo, civ no. 940930. Section 391(b)(3) provides 2 that a vexatious litigant is a person, who, "in any litigation, 3 while acting in propria persona, repeatedly files unmeritorious
4 motions, pleadings, or other papers, conducts unnecessary 5 discovery or engages in other tactics that are frivolous or 6 solely intended to cause unnecessary delay." (Section 391(b)(3)).

7       The record shows that Ms. McColm, while acting in propria 8 persona in the case of McColm v. Nelson, civ. no. 853343, filed 9 fifteen discovery motions within a sixty-day period all of which 10 were denied. The Court sanctioned Ms. McColm five times for 11 filing unmeritorious motions. Moreover, Ms. McColm filed 12 approximately twenty-one Law and Motion matters in Nelson all of 13 which were determined adversely against her. The defendant 14 noticed plaintiff's deposition seven times because she repeatedly 15 failed to attend previously scheduled depositions. An 16 independent medical examination was not performed until four and 17 a half years after the alleged accident. The trial itself 18 commenced seven years after the alleged accident. Ultimately, 19 the trial court entered sanctions amounting to over $70,000, 20 against Ms. McColm. The case is currently pending before the 21 First District Court of Appeal.

22 During oral argument, Ms. McColm did not controvert the 23 record or offer any justification for any of her litigation 24 tactics or techniques. Rather, she contended that it was 25 improper for the Court to consider McColm v. Nelson because 26 Jordan's Amended Supplemental Notice did not cite the case.

1 (Transcript of the Hearing 15:22-15:26). This argument is 2 without merit. The Amended Supplemental Notice and Motion filed 3 by the defendant incorporated the Request for Judicial Notice
4 that had been previously filed. The Request for Judicial Notice 5 specifically cited McColm v. Nelson, (Defendants' Request for 6 Judicial Notice Pursuant to Local Rule 42 filed July 31, 1995, 7 Para. 16), and the Court takes judicial notice of McColm v.
8 Nelson pursuant to Cal. Evid. Code sec. 452(c) and 452(d) and 9 Local Rule 42. Therefore, it is proper for this Court to 10 consider McColm v. Nelson in the instant motion.

11 Ms. McColm's conduct in McColm v. Sangiacomo, civ. no.
12 940930, further demonstrates her propensity to engage in tactics 13 that are frivolous or solely intended to cause unnecessary delay.
14 In Sangiacomo, the defendant served Ms. McColm on March 12, 1992, 15 with a notice of deposition scheduled for April 23, 1992. When 16 she failed to appear for the deposition, the defendant filed a 17 motion to compel. Commissioner Richard Best granted the motion 18 to compel on June 8, 1992, and sanctioned Ms. McColm $500 (Minute 19 Order filed June 9, 1992). The defendant renoticed the deposition 20 for July 16, 1992. Defendant gave Ms. McColm over 30 days 21 notice. On June 22, 1992, Ms. McColm filed a Motion for 22 Reconsideration of Commissioner Best's decision and noticed the 23 hearing date for September 16, 1994, some two months after the 24 scheduled court ordered deposition. Ms. McColm failed to appear 25 for the deposition on July 16, 1995, and to satisfy the sanction
26 against her. As a result of her failure to appear, the defendant 27

1 moved to dismiss the case on August 19, 1992. Instead of 2 dismissing the case, the Court ordered Ms. McColm to appear for 3 deposition at 2:00 p.m. on August 28, 1992. The court imposed a 4 sanction in the amount of $1000 against Ms. McColm and precluded 5 her from filing further discovery motions until her deposition 6 was taken. The Court further ordered that the deposition might 7 only be continued or reset by stipulation with defense counsel or 8 order of the Court (Order Compelling Plaintiff's Deposition and 9 Awarding of Monetary Sanctions, filed August 19, 1992). On 10 August 24, 1992, Ms. McColm appeared before the Court for an ex-11 parte order to continue the deposition and for a protective 12 order. In denying the order, the Court found that the ex-parte 13 motion was brought without substantial justification. The court 14 found that her request for protective order was in violation of a 15 prior Court Order (Order After Hearing filed August 25, 1992). On 16 the morning of August 28, 1992, Ms. McColm informed defendant's 17 counsel that she would not be appearing for the deposition and 18 would be serving him with a Writ of Prohibition. Defendant's 19 counsel was served at 1:46 p.m. on that day. The Writ of 20 Prohibition was filed before the Court of Appeal, First District 21 between 4:00 - 4:30 p.m., some two hours after the scheduled 22 deposition. The Court of Appeal denied the Writ of Prohibition 23 on August 31, 1995. Ms. McColm's tactics in McColm v. Sangiacomo 24 ultimately led the court to enter a terminating sanction against 1 her.*

2 In addition to her efforts to delay her deposition in McColm
3 v. Sangiacomo, Ms. McColm also filed meritless motions to: 1) 4 quash defendant's subpoena seeking treatment records regarding 5 alleged dental injuries as set forth in plaintiff's Answers to 6 Interrogatories; 2) compel further Answers to Interrogatories 7 which were irrelevant and oppressive; and 3) compel further 8 responses to her production demands which were irrelevant, 9 duplicative, and oppressive. The Court sanctioned Ms. McColm 10 $700 for bringing these motions.

11

12 APPLICABILITY OF SECTION 391(b) (3)

13 At oral argument, Ms. McColm contended that section 14 391(b) (3) is only applicable when a litigant, in propria persona, 15 repeatedly files unmeritorious motions in the very proceeding in 16 which the other party sought to have the litigant declared as 17 vexatious. Ms. McColm quoted, verbatim, a passage from Camerado 18 Ins. Agency Inc. v. Superior Court, (1993) 12 Cal. App.4th 838 to 19 support her position. That passage states that "[although] the 20 second and third acts described in [section 391(b)] refer to a 21 person acting in propria persona in the very proceeding in which 22 a defendant attempts to obtain an order requiring the plaintiff

23

24 * As further evidence of Ms. McColm's tactics for 25 unnecessary discovery with the intent to cause delay, in McColm 26 v. Musante, civ. no. 020710/706309, Judge Quidachay, then the 27 presiding judge of the Municipal Court of San Francisco found the "plaintiff's use of the discovery and subpoena process in this case were excessive, duplicative, and abusive." (Decision and Order filed December 20, 1991).

28

1 to furnish security, the first and fourth do not." (Transcript of 2 Hearing, p. 16:21-16:25, Camerado Ins. Agency Inc., (1993) 12
3 Cal. App.4th at 842). While a cursory reading of the passage 4 suggests that section 391(b)(3) is applicable only to the 5 litigant's conduct in the very proceeding in which she is sought 6 to be declared vexatious, a closer reading of the case suggests 7 otherwise*.

8 In Camerado Ins. Agency Inc., the defendant sought to have 9 the plaintiff declared vexatious pursuant to section 391(b)(1).
10 (Id. at 840). The trial court denied the motion because 11 plaintiff was represented by counsel in the proceeding in which 12 the vexatious litigant motion was brought. The trial court 13 reasoned that section 391 applies only to litigants acting in 14 propria persona in the civil action in which the vexatious 15 litigant motion is brought. (Id.) The Court of Appeal reversed 16 holding that the trial court's "construction of the vexatious 17 litigant statute, as applying only to litigants acting in propria 18 persona in the litigation in which the motion is brought, is 19 inconsistent with the plain language of the statute, its

20

21 * The Court notes, but does not decide, that Ms. McColm's 22 conduct in the present case may be considered to support a 23 finding of tactics designed to cause unnecessary delay. As noted 24 above, the case was filed on December 13, 1994, but was not 25 served until July 18, 1995. Following service, the defendant 26 filed the instant motion. Ms. McColm sought and obtained a six-27 week extension of time in order to respond to Mr. Jordan's motion. The motion was originally set for hearing on August 21, 1995. On the eve of the continued hearing, Ms. McColm abruptly moved to disqualify Judge Garcia and purportedly sought to disqualify Judge William Cahill. Ms. McColm's challenges resulted in an eight-week delay of the continued hearing date.

28

1 legislative history, policy, case law and commentary." (Camerado 2 Ins. Agency Inc., (1993) 12 Cal. App.4th at 840). The Court of 3 Appeal went on to hold that the term "plaintiff" for the purposes 4 of section 391 is a person who commences, institutes or maintains 5 a litigation and not a person acting in propria persona. (Id. at 6 842).

7 When read in the context of the case, it is clear that the 8 passage, quoted by Ms. McColm, stands for the position that a 9 person may be declared vexatious for conduct in prior litigations 10 defined by section 391(b) (2) and (3) only if she is acting in 11 propria persona in the very proceeding in which the vexatious 12 litigant motion is brought, whereas, section 391(b) (1) and (4) 13 would apply even if the litigant is represented by counsel in the 14 proceeding in which the motion is brought.<sup>13</sup> Since Ms. McColm is 15 representing herself in propria persona in this action, the Court 16 may properly declare her a vexatious litigant under section 17 391(b) (3) for her conduct in McColm v. Nelson and McColm v.
18 Sangiacomo.

19

20 REASONABLE PROBABILITY OF SUCCESS

21 Pursuant to Section 391.1 a motion to require security, must 22 be based on the ground, and supported by a showing, that the 23 plaintiff is a vexatious litigant and that there is not a

24

25 Furthermore, Ms. McColm's position contradicts the plain 26 meaning of the section which defines a plaintiff as being 27 vexatious when she files unmeritorious motions or engages in frivolous tactics in "any" litigation.

28

1 reasonable probability that he or she will prevail in the 2 litigation against the moving defendant. As discussed above, 3 this Court finds sufficient evidence to support a showing that 4 Ms. McColm is a vexatious litigant within the meaning of section 5 391. This Court now addresses Ms. McColm's probability of 6 success in the instant litigation.

7 To satisfy its burden of showing that the plaintiff has no 8 reasonable probability of prevailing, the defendant must show 9 that the plaintiff's recovery is foreclosed as a matter of law or 10 that there are insufficient facts to support recovery by the 11 plaintiff on its legal theories. (Devereaux v. Latham & Watkins, 12 (1995) 32 Cal.App.4th 1571,1583). Applying the second standard 13 to the plaintiff's claims, the Court concludes that there is no 14 reasonable probability she would prevail on her claims.

15 Ms. McColm's complaint alleges that Mr. Jordan assaulted her 16 at her home. Mr. Jordan has no prior criminal history and no 17 history of abusive or violent behavior. Furthermore, Mr. Jordan 18 has filed a declaration stating that he never struck Ms. McColm.
19 Ms. McColm claims otherwise. A police report relating to her 911 20 call states that the investigating officer noted that there were 21 no "visible signs of injury." (Exhibit C to the Declaration of 22 Alexander Bannon in support of Defendant's motion to have 23 plaintiff declared a vexatious litigant, filed July 28, 1995, 24 hereinafter "Bannon Decl."). Ms. McColm claims that her toe was 25 broken, but Ms. McColm's medical records concluded that "no fractures are demonstrated." (Exhibit D to Bannon Decl.). In 1 support of her claim of physical injury Ms. McColm presents to 2 this Court an undated photograph of her toe. Clearly this 3 evidence is insufficient to support the conclusion that the 4 plaintiff has a reasonable probability of success on the merits 5 of her claim.

6 Ms. McColm's complaint also alleges criminal trespass, 7 despite the fact that Mr. Jordan was on Ms. McColm's property at 8 her request and with her consent. Ms. McColm also claims that 9 Mr. Jordan conducts his business in a fraudulent manner to induce 10 reliance by patrons on false representations. Mr. Jordan states 11 in his declaration, that his advertisements are accurate and that 12 all equipment reflected in the ads are on his premises.
13 Furthermore, Mr. Jordan also attaches to his declaration a copy 14 of the Consumer ValueStar - a symbol of high customer 15 satisfaction issued by ValueStar Inc. based upon a survey 16 conducted by the Public Research Institute of San Francisco State 17 University. Finally, Ms. McColm claims that Mr. Jordan took one 18 of her rugs after she called 911. However, in her declaration 19 Ms. McColm acknowledges that she told Mr. Jordan that she would 20 not pay for the services that he provided. Thus, there is a 21 strong argument that Mr. Jordan is entitled to a valid possessory 22 lien. (Cal. Civ. Code sec. 3051).

23 There are no witnesses to the alleged assault other than the 24 litigants. Moreover, the existence of an injury is highly 25 doubtful. In short, this Court must rely upon its assessment of 26 the credibility of the opposing parties.

27

28

1       Therefore, based upon the entire record submitted in this 2 matter, this Court finds that Ms. McColm has no reasonable 3 probability of prevailing in this litigation.

5 ORDER TO FURNISH SECURITY PURSUANT TO SECTION 391.1

6       Plaintiff's claim that the defendant is precluded from 7 bringing the motion to require her to furnish security because of 8 her in forma pauperis status is without merit. Ms. McColm cited 9 Muller v. Tanner, (1969) 2 Cal. App.3d 445, for the proposition 10 that the court can never require security when a party is 11 proceeding in forma pauperis. However, the court in Muller 12 specifically found that the plaintiff's attack on the 13 constitutionality of the vexatious litigant statute was 14 unwarranted and without merit. In reaching its decision, the 15 court held that the restriction of the vexatious litigant statute 16 and the right to proceed in forma pauperis are "complementary not 17 conflicting." (Id. at 454). The Court reasoned that only when 18 the trial court determines that a plaintiff has a reasonable 19 probability of success would a conflict arise between the 20 statutory restriction and the common law right to proceed in 21 forma pauperis. Under this circumstance, the statutory 22 restriction would have to yield to the common law right to 23 proceed in forma pauperis. (Id.)

24       In the instant case, this Court found that Ms. McColm does 25 not have a reasonable probability of success against Mr. Jordan.
26 Thus, this Court may properly grant the motion requiring 1 security. This Court has determined that $25,000 is an 2 appropriate amount based upon the evidence submitted.

4 PREFILING ORDER PURSUANT TO SECTION 391.7

5 The Court grants Defendant Jordan's motion to require a 6 prefiling order pursuant to section 391.7. In reaching its 7 decision, this Court is not unmindful that such an order is a 8 drastic measure and should be taken only after less drastic 9 determinations and sanctions have been considered. In this case, 10 due to an indescribable morass of intertwining litigation in the 11 State Courts, it would be a most tedious job to articulate all 12 the reasons why a prefiling order is appropriate in this case. A 13 few should suffice. Ms. McColm commenced in excess of thirty 14 cases. She filed many of these cases in Superior Court and 15 subsequently transferred to Municipal Court on her own motion.
16 She has flagrantly ignored orders of the court. She repeatedly 17 failed to satisfy any court imposed sanctions against her for 18 abusing the legal process. There is no reason to expect that any 19 less drastic measures will be effective in deterring Ms. McColm's 20 conduct. This Court is left with the inescapable conclusion that 21 the only effective remedy for controlling Ms. McColm's propensity 22

23 :: Ms. McColm dismisses cases or parties after involving 24 them in an expensive litigation process. See e.g., McColm v.
25 City and County of San Francisco Dept. of Public Works, civ. no.
26 952446, filed in San Francisco Superior Court on June 6, 1993.
27 Ms. McColm dismissed this case on June 6, 1994. McColm v. Dow 28 Jones & Co., civ. no. 960639, Ms. McColm filed this case in Superior Court on May 5, 1994. Ms. McColm dismissed this case on February 17, 1995.

1 for abuse is to impose a prefilng order requirement.

3 CONCLUSION

4 In conclusion, this Court finds that plaintiff, Patricia A.
5 McColm is a vexatious litigant within the meaning of Section 391.
6 Ms. McColm has no reasonable probability of success in this 7 litigation. Therefore, it is proper for this Court to require 8 security in the amount of $25,000. Furthermore, based upon the 9 plaintiff's past history of abusing the legal process, this Court 10 requires Ms. McColm to obtain a prefilng order prior to 11 commencing additional litigation.

PATRICIA A. MCCOLM,

Plaintiffs,

Northern District of Georgia
Case No 05-80212

vs.

Adversary No. 06-9036

DAVID R. MICHAL, ET. AL.

Defendants.

I, STACEY WOODARD declare as follows:

1. I am a legal secretary with the law firm of Kenny, Snowden & Norine, attorneys of record for RESTORATION GROUP, INC., dba PUROFIRST DISASTER & RECONSTRUCTION and

1 ROBERT CRONIC in a lawsuit filed in the Superior Court of California, Shasta County case 2 number 153509.

3 2. The matters which are embraced within this declaration are matters which are within my 4 personal knowledge, and if called upon to testify, I would and could competently testify as follows:

5 3. On October 14, 2009, I was asked by Margaret Long to contact Patricia McColm to advise 6 her that this office would be representing Robert Cronic in a deposition that she had subpoenaed him 7 for, and that due to a calendar conflict, counsel was unavailable on the date the deposition was scheduled. I was instructed to provide alternative dates for the deposition.

8 4. On October 14, 2009, I left a detailed voice mail message at the telephone number in our 9 file for Ms. McColm. I then mailed a confirming letter to Ms. McColm and faxed a copy to her 10 attorney, David Griffith. Attached hereto as Exhibit "B-1" is a true and correct copy of that letter.

11 5. Ms. McColm returned my phone call on October 14, 2009, and advised me that our 12 telephone conversation was being recorded. She did not ask my permission to do so. I did not 13 consent to the recording of the call. Ms. McColm's demeanor was hostile for the duration of the call.
14 I attempted to explain Ms. Long's unavailability and repeatedly offered to reschedule the deposition 15 to October 28 and 29 and November 16 and 17, 2009. She was unwilling to discuss alternative 16 dates for the deposition, but rather attempted to engage in discussions about the lawsuit. She was 17 extremely rude and was shouting so loud that I had to put the call on speaker phone. I advised her 18 that I was not an attorney and would not discuss anything beyond calendaring with her. I repeatedly 19 stated that counsel for Mr. Cronic was not available on October 15th, and that Mr. Cronic would not be present on that date for deposition.

20 6. Finally, Ms. McColm requested that we put our alternative dates for the deposition of Mr.
21 Cronic in a letter to her and fax the letter to her attorney, David Griffith. Ms. McColm stated that 22 she intended to use our letter in her request for a continuance of the trial in this matter.

23 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of California that the foregoing 24 is true and correct. Executed this 7th day of December, 2009 at Redding, California.

Rc: McColm v Michal; CONFIRMATION OF ROBERT CRONIC'S
REFUSAL TO COMPLY WITH SUBPOENAS

Dear Ms. Long:

This correspondence confirms that earlier this date, your assistant advised that you Robert Cronic would not be appearing for his deposition scheduled for October 15, 2009 inspection demands; including inspection of the personal property on October 16, 2009, w any reason stated.

After being advised that I would be moving to compel as I had traveled five hours any earlier response to my numerous inquiries over the past 10 days. I was told to call back the end of the day, when your assistant advised that a fax had been prepared about alternate dates at the end of October or Mid-November. She was told those dates were unacceptable to impending close of discovery and other time limited conflicts and that absent a court order extension of discovery / trial date, that a motion to compel would have to be filed by the date suggested; and thus, the dates appeared to be in bad-faith.

However I will tell the court that upon order compelling/extending, you will be available on the dates stated.

As you are aware, the issue is the current status of the personal property and whether not Mr. Cronic has in his possession, each item taken out of the real property at 925 South Redding under the partnership license with Mr. Michal. Until all the personal property is returned, the partnership may continue to be found liable.

Your early attention to any assistance you can provide in resolving the issue would be appreciated.

Exhibit "D"

appreciated.

Sincerely,

Patricia A. McColm, J.D.

P.S. I belatedly got access to a computer with a program that is outside my use knowledge correction of your fax was urgent. It is unfortunate you refuse to speak directly with me to resolve any communication issues as your fax is misleading.

appreciated.

Sincerely,

Patricia A. McColm, J.D.

P.S. I belatedly got access to a computer with a program that is outside my use knowledge. The correction of your fax was urgent. It is unfortunate you refuse to speak directly with me to resolve any communication issues as our fax is misleading.

1 RE: United States Bankruptcy Court, Easter District of California, Case No. 09-00206-C

2 PROOF OF SERVICE

3 I am employed in the County of Shasta, State of California, I am over the age of eighteen 4 years and not a party to the foregoing action, my business address is 2701 Park Marina Drive, 5 Redding, California 96001-2805.

6 I am familiar with this company's practice of placing its daily mail, with postage prepaid 7 thereon, in a designated area for deposit in a U.S. mailbox in the City of Redding, California, after the close of the day's business. On the date shown below, I served,

8 RESPONSE TO ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

9 XX BY MAIL on the parties in said action, by placing a true copy thereof in a sealed 10 envelope with postage fully prepaid thereon, and placing said envelope in the area 11 designated for outgoing daily mail, addressed as follows:

12 Patricia McColm
13 P. O. Box 27274
14 San Francisco, CA 94127

Charlton & Glover
87 Vickery Street
15 Roswell, GA 30075

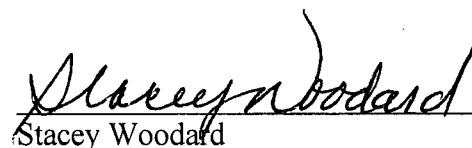

16 US Bankruptcy Court
17 Eastern District of California
18 501 I Street, Suite 3-200
19 Sacramento, CA 95814

20 David R. Griffith, Esq.
21 STEWART HUMPHREYS
22 BURCHETT & MOLIN
23 Professional Plaza
24 3120 Cohasset Road – Suite 6
25 Chico, CA 95973

26 BY FACSIMILE: I caused the document to be transmitted by facsimile machine 27 compliant with Rule 2003 of the California Rules of Court to the offices of the 28 addressees at the telephone numbers shown on the service list:

29 BY FEDERAL EXPRESS: I am readily familiar with my employer's practice for the 30 collection and processing of FedEx packages. Under that practice, packages would be 31 deposited with FedEx that same day, with overnight delivery charges thereon fully 32 prepaid, in the ordinary course of business:

33 I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed 34 December 7, 2009, at Redding, California.
